New England's Monthly Numismatic Catalog

NERCA to Conduct First Auction of 1980

On January 9-12, New England Rare Coin Auctions will conduct the first major numismatic auction of 1980: the 25th Annual F.U.N. (Florida United Numismatists Association) Auction. Preparations for this exciting event, including the cataloging and photographing of over 1,500 lots, are now well underway. Silver dollar collectors will be pleased to know that the F.U.N. Auction will contain a complete run of Morgan and Peace Dollars, as well as a select offering of Trade Dollars. Collectors of U.S. gold coinage will be able to bid on a virtually complete run of Indian Head Half Eagles and a superb offering of rare date double eagles. And commemorative collectors are sure to be excited by the incredible run of gold and silver U.S. Commemoratives that will be auctioned.

For some highlights from the 1980 F.U.N. Auction, see our special "Auction Update" page in this issue of Inventory Selections. And if you've any questions about F.U.N., or selling your coins at a future New England auction, call our toll-free "Auction Line": 800-225-6794, Ext.#99.

An important note to New England Personal Service Card holders: Due to rising costs, New England must limit the use of our Approval Account Service to orders over $100. If you don't yet have a Personal Service Card, call us. In addition to our Approval Service, New England's Personal Service Card entitles qualified card holders to use our Deferred Payment Plan. Ask your New England Professional Numismatist for a Personal Service Card Application, or write to us today.

Be sure to take a look at New England's World Coin and U.S. Currency listings this month. New England Rare Coin Galleries now brings Inventory Selections readers more numismatic offerings than ever.

A HOLIDAY GIFT IDEA:

U.S. MINT COIN DIE SETS

Several months ago, New England's numismatists were lucky enough to acquire a set of coin dies from the U.S. Mint in San Francisco. These dies were used in striking 1968 Proof coinage, and are the only dies released to the public since 1900.

This month, New England offers these dies to Inventory Selections readers at special holiday savings. Each die comes with a handsome walnut-finish stand of solid maple, a lustrous 1968 Proof coin of the denomination struck by the die, and an engraved plaque detailing the die's history. Here is an attractive and fascinating addition to anyone's desktop, bookcase or cabinet.

Normally, these dies are valued at $39.95. New England now offers them for only $35.50 — but only until December 12, so order today. Simply write "coin die set" under the DATE heading on the enclosed order form.

Please note: Prior to release from the Mint, the heads of these dies were thoroughly defaced. Due to limited supply, no more than 3 per customer, please.

A special series profiling

New England Rare Coin Galleries' numismatic experts.

Tom Paine

At one moment, Tom Paine is before you joking and swapping stories, his ever-present good humor lifting your spirits. In the next, he is reflective and deliberate, because you've just asked him about his role as a New England Professional Numismatist — a role he takes with deep seriousness. "I really feel I perform an important service for today's collectors. Because most collectors have neither the time nor money to keep on top of today's market. Only a professional can afford to spend all day, every day studying rare coin price trends. And only someone with professional resources behind him can afford to personally examine treasures like an MS-69 High Relief St. Gaudens, an 1849-C Open Wreath Dollar, and the 1866 No Motto Seated Dollar. I've studied all these coins first hand, and I examine hundreds more each week."

Tom's numismatic experiences began when he was 8 years old. Like many budding collectors of that age, Tom began pulling wheatback pennies, Mercury Dimes and Buffalo Nickels out of pocket change and inserting them in Whitman coin books. "I guess people start collecting coins because they combine pleasure with study. Coins are interesting and beautiful historical artifacts. Which is also why I used to collect stamps. Unfortunately, stamps aren't as durable as coins. There was a fire in my house last year and my entire collection got soaked."

In 1977, Tom graduated from Bates College in Lewiston, Maine, with a B.A. in English. "By the time I entered college, I'd slowed down my collecting considerably, because I was short on cash and long on unpaid bills. After I joined New England, I started right up again. Now I collect not only U.S. coins but currency and ancients as well. Partly because I believe in diversification. And partly because I see ancient coins — especially pieces from Greece and Rome — as the ancestors of our own coinage."

Tom currently lives in the Boston suburbs, not far from his office at New England Rare Coin Galleries. In addition to his personal collecting activities, he enjoys sports, cooking for himself (which he claims he does more out of necessity than pure enjoyment), and looking toward the future. "Anyone who claims that rare coin prices have reached ridiculous levels is basing his conclusions on the past. But I think collectors must realize that the past is gone. Coin values still have a long way to go. Five or six years down the road, today's 'ridiculous' prices will seem like incredible bargains."

Market Report

by Tim LaPointe

At the shows

Buying and selling at coin shows and auctions has been extremely heavy since we last reported to you. At the Long Beach Numismatic and Philatelic Exposition (October 11-14), New England alone purchased over $4,000,000 in coinage to fill customer want lists. Just a few weeks later, at New York's Grand Central Coin Convention (November 1-4), New England spent well over $1,000,000. Although New England was one of the largest buyers at both shows, other dealers report hectic buying and selling as well. Bowers & Ruddy, Quality, Superior and Paramount have all held auctions over the past 30 days — and as this issue of Inventory Selections goes to press, New England is holding the 1979 New England Fall Auction here in Boston.

Gold

Despite this large volume of collectible coin offerings at shows and auctions, the market has not slowed down. Just as it easily absorbed the huge volume of material offered this summer, when the Metropolitan New York Show, the A.N.A., the A.N.A. Auction, and Auction '79 occurred within weeks of each other, so too has the market easily absorbed this month's activities.

Nowhere was this fact more evident than in the gold sector. The only material that has slowed significantly is bullion coinage. The Kruggerand has dipped from $400 to about $390; and the Mexican Peso is down from $500 to $475.

Choice U.S. gold coins, however, continue to advance. Gem-quality High-Relief St. Gaudens are now trading well in excess of $20,000 at the wholesale level. Gem proof coins in particular are reaching new price levels weekly. And expensive gold rarities, which just awhile ago were considered hard to sell, are being sought more and more frequently — and bringing higher and higher prices whenever they can be found.

Silver

Silver bullion prices also seem to be levelling off at around $16 to $17 per ounce. However, choice U.S. silver coinage is still booming — and prices for MS-60 specimens are rapidly catching up to MS-65's, possibly due to the inability of many collectors to afford true MS-65's at today's prices. "No Drapery" and "Arrows" silver coinage is taking off in all denominations. Of particular note are 1873/4 Arrows dimes which, according to the Coin Dealer Newsletter, gained $750 in just one bidding week.

No Drapery and Arrows pieces are also hot in half-dollar series, although registered increases here are generally less dramatic than in No Drapery and Arrows dimes. Walking Liberty Halves are going through the roof — especially choice 1921-S pieces which dealers are now bidding for unsuccessfully at $18,500. In addition, many extremely rare halves, like the 1878-S Seated Half, are now being offered with rapidly decreasing frequency.

The silver dollar market has generally slowed up since our last Market Report. However, certain silver dollars are still extremely active. For example, Proof and Prooflike Morgan Dollars are hard to find at current bid levels — and at the Grand Central auction, an 1894 Prooflike Morgan in MS-67 sold for $36,000. Proof Trade Dollars in true gem condition — which, for awhile, were considered by many to be sleepers — are now skyrocketing in price at shows and auctions nationwide.

Nickel, Copper

Three Cent Nickels are advancing again and true gem specimens are still underpriced. New England has been trying to buy these coins at prices well above other dealers, without much success. Nice Buffalo Nickels are showing steady price increases weekly and are becoming difficult to locate. Proof Buffaloes have increased $200 in one week on the wholesale level.

Half Cents, Large Cents, Indian Cents and Two Cent Pieces are all showing signs of upward swings. The greatest movement is in MS-60 grades, and in Two Cent Pieces which show increases in all Mint State and Proof grades. Just as in the silver sector, the gap between MS-60 and MS-65 copper coins seems to be closing fast.

Currency

U.S. Currency, which began a mercurial advance in late 1978, is now seeing that historic year's record-setting dealer-to-dealer transactions surpassed 3-to-5 fold. At the Grand Central Show, U.S. Large Size type notes were trading at a 5% to 10% premium above the trading at Long Beach. Type notes, in choice to gem condition, from Legal Tender to Large Size Nationals, experienced particularly active trading.

This most recent activity is an obvious reaction to dealers' inability to obtain choice notes for this expanding area of the hobby. Although some price resistance is evident, this usually occurs in the XF to Choice AU grades. Nevertheless, with many notes now trading at $3,000 to $5,000, some collectors are turning to Choice AU material. This has resulted in more U.S. Currency coming to market at shows and auctions.

World Coins

Two major shows highlighted World Coin trading this month: the British Numismatic Trade Association's International Coin Fair (October 12-13) and the Swiss Numismatic Association Convention (October 20-21). Both shows mean as much to the World Coin market as the A.N.A. does to U.S. collectors, and trading was extremely hectic — especially in world gold and world crowns. During this same period, major World Coin auctions were held by Sotheby's in London and Bank Leu in Zurich. Many a dealer and collector had to revise their bid sheets at these auctions as many record prices were set — particularly in the areas of ancient Greek silver, Roman gold, and British hammered and milled coins.

During our trip to New England last month, my wife and I visited Plymouth, Massachusetts, which naturally set me wondering about coins in the days of the Pilgrims. What passed for currency in early New England? — J.K., Brooklyn, NY

At its beginnings, the Plymouth settlement was organized as a communal settlement, and barter of goods and labor served for most exchanges.

Trade with the Indians was carried on with wampum (shells), lead musket balls, and other metal objects. Later, various foreign coins came into use. It was not until 1652 that coins were finally minted in New England. In a small wooden building, not far from New England Rare Coin Galleries' present location, Bostonian John Hull began to strike the famous New England shilling, sixpence and threepence pieces. The designs were struck with punches onto thin, flat silver planchets. (New England Rare Coin Galleries' company logo is based on the design of the obverse punch.)

I have been collecting coins for 27 years, but only recently I took complete stock of my collection and realized it represents my largest single financial asset, other than my house. Now I am wondering if I am handling things right so that I will be treated fairly by the IRS if I ever sell. — E.D., Derry, NH

The most important thing you should do to insure against nasty surprises at tax time is to keep good records of your collection — how you assembled it, what is in it, and how you eventually dispose of your coins. Record all the details of each purchase: the price, date, and the name of the seller. Also, keep any pertinent papers such as invoices or guarantees. The thing you want to avoid most is letting the IRS think you paid less for a coin than you actually did. If you paid $75 for a 1924-S Mercury Dime, and later sell it for $200, your profit would be $125. But if you cannot prove what you paid for the coin, the IRS may presume its cost to you was face value, or 10¢! If this happens, you'll be taxed on a $199.90 profit, and this means paying unnecessary taxes.

Another good idea is to record all of your collecting expenses: travel, shipping costs, safe-deposit box fees and catalog subscriptions. These expenses are sometimes tax deductible — but only to the extent of any profits accrued from your coins.

If you haven't kept good records up to now, don't panic. Like most collectors, you probably have a good mental file on each of your coins. Start writing down what you remember about your most valuable coins, using your cancelled checks, marked auction catalogs, and other stray records for reference. The IRS prefers records made at the time of a transaction, but in case of a dispute, a retrospective record made in good faith is better than none at all.

If you've any further questions on the financial management of your collection, feel free to give your New England Professional Numismatist a call. Or you may want to read The Financial Management of Your Coin/Stamp Estate by Coin World columnist D. Larry Crumbley ($16.50 from Information Services, P.O. Box 9027, College Station, TX 77840).

My grandfather left me his U.S. Large Cent collection, along with a bundle of letters from his numismatist friends. Several of the letters mention something called "Old Cent Whist." Was this a card game somehow connected with coins? — S.N., Queens, NY

The collector's pastime of "Old Cent Whist" is described in Dr. William Sheldon's classic book on the Large Cent, Penny Whimsey. It was invented by Dr. George French, and first played by him and other gentlemen collectors of the pre-World War I era. No cards are involved. Old Cent Whist is simply a game whereby two collectors compete to see who has the "best" collection. Here's how to play: Two (or more) players gather at a table with their entire collection of an agreed-upon coin series. (In Sheldon's book, the game was always played with Large Cents.) A designated player calls off the first variety of coin within that series. If you have the coin, you score one point; the same for your opponent. The owner of the coin in better condition scores one additional point. In case of a tie, a point goes to each collector. For each variety, then, you may score zero, one or two points. Proceed to the next variety until you have exhausted the collections of all players. The player with the most points wins.

Old time collectors used to play Old Cent Whist for hours, sometimes placing wagers on the outcome of each point. Today, the game could be played with any number of coin series, simply by following a standard coin listing such as the Red Book.

I am very pleased to see that you are beginning to offer ancient and foreign coins in Inventory Selections. The ancient Greek coins are particularly interesting. How did they strike coins in such high relief? Also, would you explain some of the unusual terms used in your descriptions. — E.K., Vineland, NJ

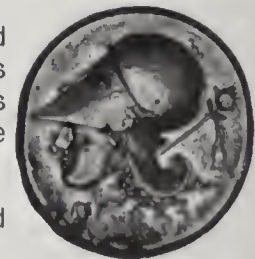

It is not known exactly how the Greeks obtained such high relief on their hand-struck coinage. It is evident, however, that ancient coiners were not required to make their coins "stackable" — a factor which restrains modern coin designers. And not only was the relief intriguingly high on ancient Greek coinage, but the planchets used were convex rather than flat. This shape was very advantageous for the many ancient Greek citizens who, in lieu of using purses, would carry small coins in their mouths.

Some of the terms used in our first World Coin listing were:

Triskeles: Literally, "three-leg". This term refers to a figure which has three curved branches or lines, or three stylized human arms or legs, radiating from a common center. The triskeles is thought to be related to another symbol of equal antiquity: the four-armed swastika, found on Cretan and Indian coinage. (Pictured here, a triskeles of human legs from an ancient Ar-stater, circa 400-300 B.C.)

Thyrso: A staff tipped with a pine cone and twined with ivy usually carried by the god Dionysus or his devotees. (Pictured here is a free-floating thyrsos behind a head of the goddess Athena on the reverse of a Corinthian Ar-stater, circa 338-300 B.C.)

Fulmen: A lightning bolt, frequently depicted with wings.

Androcephalic: Meaning "man-headed." This term is used in reference to the centaur and other man-headed beasts of Greek mythology.

Pecten: A scallop, or other mollusc of the same family, so-named for their comb-shaped gills.

Auction Update:

The 1980 F.U.N. Auction

As this issue of Inventory Selections goes to press, New England's numismatists are busily cataloging over 1,500 lots for the 1980 F.U.N. Auction (to be held January 9-11 at the Sheraton Twin Towers in Orlando, Florida). Below is just a small sampling of the lots already cataloged:

1849/8

Half Dime, MS-67. Fully struck. Beautiful light russet peripheral toning. A rare coin in this condition.

Seated Liberty Dollar, MS-65. Frosty and well struck. A superb specimen realized $17,000 to a dealer at Auction '79. This piece is nearly as nice.

1852-O

Gold Dollar, Type One. According to Akers, the 1852-O has the second lowest mintage of any Type One O-Mint dollar. This specimen is fully struck with light original toning.

1892

Quarter Eagle, MS-63. Ex. Stack's H.T. Allen Sale, February, 1977. A very rare piece in brilliant Full Strike.

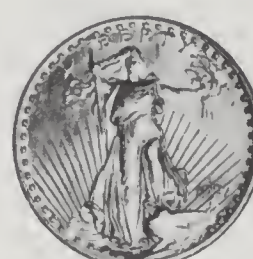

1855-O

Liberty Head Double Eagle, VF-35. Sharp details, a distinct mint mark, and traces of lustre about the devices. A virtually irreplaceable coin on today's market.

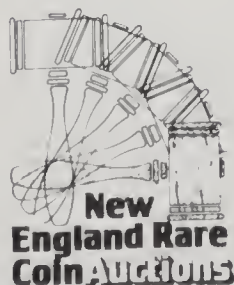

1885-CC

Liberty Head Double Eagle, MS-63. Fully struck, with light copper toning. Reverse edge ding at 2 o'clock. A rare coin in this condition.

1927-S

St. Gaudens Double Eagle, MS-63. Sharply struck with full frosty mint bloom. A rare and undervalued coin.

The silver dollar collection of the late multi-millionaire LaVere Redfield is the most famous in numismatic history. It was discovered in 1974 when IRS agents tore down a cardboard wall in the basement of the Redfield mansion. There, carefully stacked in bank bags, were 407,283 Morgan and Peace Dollars — the largest silver dollar collection in history — later purchased by a Los Angeles coin dealer for the largest sum ever to change hands in a single numismatic transaction: $7,000,000.

The excitement caused by the Redfield discovery ignited a major collecting boom whose effects are still being felt today. Truly, these coins are significant pieces of numismatic history. And New England now offers a select portion of the Redfield Morgan Dollar Collection to Inventory Selections readers. For these coins only, we've extended our regular 45-day return privilege to 6 months, because we are sure you will be totally pleased with these lovely silver gems.

1861-S, MS-60. Light copper toning. Full mint bloom. Akers writes: "As is the case with many quarter eagles, this date is grossly underpriced in the standard pricing guides. It catalogues roughly double what the 1861 does in uncirculated condition, and yet, although the 1861 is quite common even in gem condition, I have never seen a full mint state 1861-S. This date is tied for the twelfth lowest average grade of any quarter eagle, and specimens better than VF are generally rare. Only one mint state specimen has been sold at auction this century, that being the Bell specimen in 1944.	3,500.00

One of Numismatics' Most Elusive Rarities The 1910-D Half Eagle in MS-65

Once again New England offers one of the most sought-after gold coins in American Numismatics — the 1910-D Indian Head Half Eagle in MS-65. In his famous reference work, United States Gold Coins, Volume IV, David Akers writes: "The 1910-D is a very scarce and underrated date. Most specimens are in the VF to EF range and choice or gem quality uncirculated specimens are very rare." New England's MS-65 specimens are from a group that were carefully packaged and buried in 1910. Each of these virtually irreplaceable gems are now being offered to Inventory Selections readers at 8,500.00

World Coins

Collecting foreign and ancient coinage — World Coins — is one of man's oldest hobbies. No other collectible offers such intrigue for the historian, such variety for the art lover, and such beauty for the numismatist.

New England Rare Coin Galleries' World Coin Division specializes in acquiring only the finest and rarest pieces. Under the supervision of World Coin Manager Frank L. Garofalo, each coin below has been expertly graded and cataloged by New England's own numismatists, and is fully covered by our extensive guarantees.

When ordering World Coins from Inventory Selections, please refer to the convenient "W" numbers to the left of each coin. This will make the ordering process quicker and easier for both you and your New England numismatist. Please note that grades have been assigned to each world coin according to the numerical A.N.A. grading scale (the same scale used for New England's U.S. rare coins).

To order any of these items, or for more information on world coins, call your New England numismatist toll-free: 800-225-6794 (in Massachusetts: 617-227-8800). Or, use the enclosed New England Order Form.

Our Complete Numismatic Services

1. Guarantees

☐ Grading

We guarantee that coins purchased from New England Rare Coin Galleries are graded accurately. They will meet our high standards whenever you decide to sell them. If you sell them to us, we guarantee to purchase them at the same grade as they were when originally purchased from us.

Our grading system is patterned after that of the American Numismatic Association. Developed in 1978, the A.N.A. System is rapidly being adopted by virtually the entire professional numismatic community. Its designations are:

Poor.....	1
Fair.....	2
About Good.....	3
Good.....	4,5
Very Good.....	8,10
Fine.....	12,15
Very Fine.....	20,25,30,35
Extremely Fine.....	40,45
About Uncirculated.....	50,55,58
Mint State.....	60,63,64,65,66,67,69,70
Proof.....	60,63,65,67,69,70

Slash grades indicate obverse/reverse designations. For example, a grade of 65/63 describes a coin with an obverse of Mint State 65 and a reverse of Mint State 63.

☐ Authenticity

We further guarantee that all coins sold by New England Rare Coin Galleries are authentic. To protect our customers, and as proof of our certainty that no altered or counterfeit coin can escape our attention, we guarantee to refund the full purchase price plus 15% compound annual interest, on any non-authentic coin acquired from us.

☐ Documentation

These guarantees are issued in writing with all coins purchased from New England Rare Coin Galleries. Each written guarantee is personally endorsed by two professional numismatists.

☐ Satisfaction

If, for any reason, you are not satisfied with your purchases, you may return them within 45 days of the date you received them for a full refund or replacement.
